Lives of Children in Drivers' Hands As Schools Reopen

Motorists will face added responsibilities with the opening of the school and utmost care is requisite to avert death or injury of pupils. Traffic hazards to children are particularly critical during the first months of the fall term because many of the smaller boys and girls are entering the school for the first time and experiencing an adventure away from home that is new to them.

Others are going to different grades and locations and must travel unfamiliar routes. A large number are unaware of the danger involved. Drivers are urged to observe the provisions of the California Vehicle Code which limits speed to 15 miles an hour when passing buildings or grounds during recess or while children are going to or from school or while playgrounds are in use. Another important provision applies to stopping for a school bus outside of a business or residence district. The driver of any vehicle upon a highway outside of a business or residence district upon meeting or overtaking from either direction any school bus which has stopped on the highway for the purpose of receiving or discharging any school children shall bring such vehicle to a stop immediately before passing the bus but may then proceed past at a speed not greater than is reasonable or proper but in no event greater than ten miles an hour and with due caution for the safety of pedestrians, the law declares.

Mrs. Sylvia Nelson, accompanied by her mother and her daughter, Natalie of Los Angeles visited Torrance friends last Friday.
